Developed by leading executive search consultants and refined for over 12+ years, you will discover the NextGen Leadership Vault is a recruiting process that is both informative and enjoyable. Our practice is focused on a retained search basis.

When one of our clients is in need of an “A Player” and the executive hiring manager desires an in-depth thorough screening process that’s when NextGen delivers a new hire that meets all expectations. In fact, the preponderance of feedback we receive from clients within six months of a placement is that the new hire not only met, but exceeded their expectations.

You authorize NextGen Global Executive Search LLP to be your executive search consultant and to submit your profile to Executive Hiring Managers who have retained or engaged NextGen to fill a key role. Your profile will never be submitted without first conducting a series of interviews & assessments, discussing the particulars of the role and answering questions you have about the role and the company, and gaining your approval to move forward.

Your information, images, documents, assessments, and videos that you provide will ONLY be released to potential employers WHOM YOU HAVE APPROVED.

As a retained search firm, NextGen Global Executive Search LLP has the sole responsibility to assess and determine if a candidate is presented or introduced to an employer or executive Hiring Manager.

NextGen Global Executive Search LLP does not guarantee placement and has no liability for any recruitment services that we perform on a candidate’s behalf that fail to attain a formal interview or job offer.
